Walk up to the crater's edge

...but be careful not to burn your feet!

A journey that will appeal not only to hiking enthusiasts, but also to everybody who is interested in nature and adventure. Explore Sicily's three remaining active volcanoes and get close to the crater of the world-famous mount Etna to admire the lava flows created by its last eruption. On the dream-like Aeolian Islands, climb to the top of the volcano, shrouded by sulphurous clouds. And our grand finale means that, after climbing Stromboli, you will be watching its fiery lava streams from the sea at night, whilst eating spaghetti on a boat.
